A friend of ours who malestands such things, tells us this "Aromatic" is a good "Aromatic," and as he is reliable, we can safely recommend this Valley Whiskey to those in need of a good article.

Daly's Aromatic Valley Whiskey, From the Orescent. Not a particle of strychnine in it—the best we have tasted for Daly's Aromatic Valley Whiskey.

From the Daily True Delta, New Orleans. Though not much of a judge, we may say, and we are "ndorsed by friends who are, that the "Aromatic Valley Whiskey," the very poetry of "Old Monongahela," manufactured by Wm. H. Daly, is anequaled for "Purity" and "Flavor" by any in the Daly's Aromatic Valley Whiskey. From the Memphis Daily Appeal.

It is pronounced by good judges to be from all deleterious or foreign substances, and consequently it should to be the place of all poisonous admirstures, which exercise so unwholesome an influence upon those who use them, where they are consumed at all. The boxious beverages that are generally intended for Whiskey are an imposition and a curse. Daly's Aromatic Valley Whiskey. From the Georgian Ottisen.

It is a pleasant, unctuous stimulant, peculiarly adapted to the Daly's Aromatic Valley Whiskey. From the Galveston Bra.

To such an extent has the coldness between the that he could see no obstacle to their annexation to Piedmont; and he informed the latter that the return of their late ruler had become impossible. He advises the Tuscans to take the young Prince Fanneys as their ruler, who would give them liberal institutions, accompanied by a full amnesty. Sentiments like these only render the necessity for a Congress more important. The chief difficulty, it is evident, will be about the Legations and the temporal power of the Pops. Wiser than the Cullens and Dupanloups, who perplex the Pope's cause with their maladroit advocacy, he does not declare that the Papal Government is perfection, and that nothing at all can be done in the way of reform. On the contrary, he presents the Duke de Gram-mont with a pleasing little catalogue of ameliorations and concessions which his Holiness will be most happy to carry out, upon only one condition—that the Legations be delivered into his power first. f, however, the Emperor of the French maintains his resolution until the settlement of the question, the Holy Father will have either to acquiesce in the oss of a province, or to recover the allegiance of his subjects, as many unholy potentates have done, by making his rule agreeable and safe. > Opinions of the Supreme Court of the State of Tennessee, at Jackson, April Haynes Walker, Ex'r, vs. Sheene et al. This case involves the question of the validity

the last will and testament of John Walker, deceased, and was tried in the Circuit Court of Jefferson county upon an issue of decisavit cel non, which was found by the jury against the will, and judg-ment rendered accordingly, to reverse which, this writ of error is presented. The will is attested only by two subscribing witnesses, namely, Daniel Carter and Elizabeth Walker, arious legacies of personal estate, but takes no in terest whatever in the lands of the testator. He left nine children, or their legal representatives, and since the death of the testator, the said Elizabeth Walker has intermarried with Wm. Cluck.

Upon the trial in the Circuit Court, after the will had been also been about the said the said the said the said to the best, with abundance of excellent, never falling water, with the mast beautiful building also in the country, and in the midst of the finest neighborhood in the country, and in the midst of the finest neighborhood in the country. will had been duly proved by Daniel Carter, one efendants objected to the proof of said will by the vill, that her interest would be much greater without the will, as an heir of the testator, John Walker, than if said will were established; but the Court refused to hear this testimony, and held that she was an incompetent witness to prove the execution of

Ex. secs. 391-399-410-420. It has been repeatedly held, that a witness whos nterest under the will is balanced by his interest in the estate in case of an intestacy, is competent, either to support or invalidate it; or where, ther cause, his interest under the instrument is eutralized by an opposing interest against it. Garand vs. Cron's Ex.'s 2 Bail, 24; Allen vs. Allen, 2 Tenn, 172; 4 Dessarne, 282, Thompson vs. Shoeman 1 Bibb, 401; Bason vs. Bason, 17 Pick, 134. If this be the rule in the case of a balanced intere why is it not, a fortiori, the rule where the witn comes to testify against his interest? Allen vs. en, was a case where the witnesses were held c petent, and, as we understand it, if they had testi would have been against their intere But it is contended, by the counsel of the defenants in error, that these principles can have no aplication here, because, to ascertain where the rest of the witness lies would involve a collaters nquiry wholly impracticable unless the court were take an inventory of the estate, its debts, &c. We lo not assent to this argument. But we know of no authority for the rejection of the witness altogether, because of the difficulty of arriving at his interest; and apprehend that the rules ARMSTRONG & CO., fevidence upon the subject in testamentary causes, nust be the same as in civil suits. Moreover, we venture the remark that, as to most estates, the ques-tion will be easily decided. Whereupon, the plaintiff offered to 25 kegs Bal. Golder 20-35 bals do prove by others, and also by the witnesses, to said to do Brooms.

In this there is error. Tested by the rules of the 200 do Chees, 200 600 Havana Cigars,

The next question is. whether Elizabeth Walker was competent to attest the paper, as one of the two witnesses required by law, to a will of real estate under the act of 1784, ch. 22, sec. 117 The will, by this act, is to "be subscribed in the testator's prence by two witnesses at least, no one of which shall be interested in the devise of the said lands." We are here to be governed by the common law, save where it is changed by this act. And we must bear in mind that a statute is not to be held to alter the common law further, or otherwise, than the act expressly declares. 7 Bac. Ab. (Title, Statute I. 4.)

It is well settled in North Carolina that the witnesses should possess the character required by the nest, at the time of their attestation, and if the will be once properly attested, no subsequent event can destroy its validity. Alflson vs. Allison, 4 Hawks, 741; Tucker vs. Tucker, 5 Ird. 161. And so is the rule in Allen vs. Allen, 2 Tenn, 172; and the weight of authority elsewhere. Modern Probate of Wills, Here, then, are the two subscribing witnesses, and neither of them is interested in the devise of any of the ands in the will. The act does not say that no will shall be good to pass any estate in lands, unless it ba interested in any gift in the same instance subscribed by two witnesses neither of which shall be interested in any gift in the same instance.

No auch thing. And nothing of the kind was intended. That was left to the common law. The fact that Elizabeth Walker, in the case of an interface of her father, might be one of his heira and distributes, did not destroy the qualification under the act as a witness to his will. This is decided in Allen va Allen, 2d Tenn., 172. Neither did the fact that she had legacies of personal estate under the same will. This position is embraced by the reasoning in the same authority. The question came directly up in same authority. The question came directly up in Winaut's Heirs vs. Winaut's Devisees, 1 Murphy. 148. The case as reported is as follows:

"The testatrix, Penelope Winaut, duly published her last will and testament in writing, in the presence of James Ward and Margaret Houghton, the only subscribing witnesses thereto, in which was contained the following clause, to-wit: I give and bequeath unto Margaret Houghton one wooler wheel, one white round table, all my chairs, and six months to live in the house if she chooses. Margaget Houghton was one of the subscribing witness to the will, and the question referred to this court was, whether the said Margaret was competent to rove the will as to the real estate?

"By the Court. The devise to the witness, Margaret Houghton, of permission to stay six months in the house, if she chooses, conveys to her up this either to the house or land; and the will being suffi iently proven as to the personal estate of the other less there appears to be no such interest Houghton, as to destroyher competency as a wit-To the same effect is the doctrine of Tucker vs. Tucker, 5 Ird. 161. And the position is fortified by fallison vs. Allison, 4 Hawks, 141; Daniel vs. Proc. Ac. or, 1 Dev. 428; Old vs. Old, 4 Dev. 500; and Mahews vs. Marchart, 3 Dev. and Bott. 40. We are to remember too, that where a will dis ses of both real and personal estate, so far as the attestation of the subscribing witnesses is concerned it ir ay be good as to the one species of property and not as to the other. Tucker vs. Tucker 5 Ird. 161. Ve have said that Elizabeth Walker was not interested in the devise of my of the lands in this will, for the words, "provided they, the said John Walker and James E. Walker, support their sister. Elizabeth W. H. Walker, so long as she remains single," used in the 4th clause of the will in reference to the land there peremptorily forbidden. The appointed interview between the Holy Father and his dufful son is indefinitely postponed; and Garibaldi's army, which of the lands, the gift to him being merely a legacy to him being merely a legacy.

It is not intended, and we do not decide as to the qualification of a witness, under the act of 1784, to attest a will where he takes an interest in the denise of the lands under it, which is neutralized or overbalanced by a contrary interest of equal, or greater value in the estate, in case of an intestacy, or from other cause. At common law, in such a case we have seen the witness would be incompetent. But it may not be so under the act of 1784; and as it is not necessary here, we do not dispose of uestion. Allen vs. Allen, 2 Tenn, 173-4. We are, therefore, of the spinion that Elimbeth Walker was a competent witness to the will, under the act of 1784; and that upon proving the facts proposed to be established, but which were rejectby the Circuit Court, she may very well testify as a witness to the will. The judgment of the Circuit Court will be re versed, and the cause remanded for anothe WRIGHT.
